The Angus Fire Emergency Foam Service delivers urgently needed stocks of foam concentrate and firefighting equipment to major incident sites worldwide.

A dedicated emergency hotline provides simple means of communication 24/7/365.

Bulk foam stocks are held in constant readiness at foam production facilities and distribution centres. When a call for help is received, an emergency procedure springs into action.

Depending on the scale and location of the incident, delivery by road can often be co-ordinated within an hour and by air freight within a few hours. Foam production staff at all sites are on constant stand-by to produce additional supplies of foam.

We will ask you for:

1. Contact telephone numbers.
2. Your company's name and address, including post code.
3. Incident location and site name, including post code.
4. Location of foam staging area (or point of delivery).
5. Nature of the emergency.
6. What foam type you think you need: 1%, 3%, or 6%.
